WntResearch informs that Thomas Feldthus, CFO, will leave WntResearch

WntResearch today announces that Thomas Feldthus has informed that he will leave WntResearch as of June 1, 2015. WntResearch has initiated the process of finding a suitable replacement.

"WntResearch is an exciting company and I am honoured to have been allowed to participate in the company's development over the last two to three years. WntResearch is in a very strong position today with a strong financial position and an interesting program, which will soon enter Phase 2 clinical trials. I am confident that WntResearch will be able to find a very suitable replacement," says Thomas Feldthus.

"We thank Thomas Feldthus for his contribution to the positive development of the company. We have initiated the process of finding a suitable replacement. In the mean time the CFO tasks will be carried out by our accountant company Innecta with which WntR has collaborated for several years," says Nils Brünner, CEO of WntResearch.
